COLD EXPECTED AT MONTAUK |

CAMP WARNED OF FALL OF TEMPERA-TURE AND A STORM EXPECTED-MORE SICK ARRIVE-ROUGH RID-ERS TO MUSTER OUT TUESDAY.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. Camp Wikoff, Montauk, N. Y., Sept. 10 .- A great change has taken place in the general health and spirits of the soldlers since they first came to Camp Wikoff. The listlessness that was then everywhere noticeable is fast disappearing. and from the regimental camps there now comes an occasional song or a burst of laughter. Those who have gone furthest along the road to recovery are beginning to get interested again in outdoor sports and athletic games, and light drills are being held daily in most of the camps. There is still plenty of weakness, though, and the malarta hangs closely to those it has infected, but even the weakest are feeling far better than when they came to Montauk. But the nights now are getting cool, and the thick Army blankets do not keep all of the chill out.

The soldiers who have been in Southern climes and whose blood has been thinned by fever and malaria feel it most, but it is the kind of weather that is to be expected from now on, Long Island people say, and worse may be looked for after

But of the sudden changes in temperature and high storms the surgeons in the hospital are daily savised, and are warned at such times to provide the sick with extra blankets and clothing. One of the bulletins sent by order of General Miles was read by the commanding officer of Camp Wikoff, General Bates, to-day, and was sent at once to the general hospital. It stated that the Weather Bureau reported a marked fall of temperature, probably of ten degrees, in this locality to-morrow, and it instructed the General to call the immediate attention of the medical officers to the report, and to see that the sick were provided with sufficient bedding, and that nothing be left undone to make other commands: them as comfortable as possible.

COLD WEATHER AND STORM EXPECTED.

In anticipation of a storm with a cold wave, for there was a sun dog in the sky this morning, the surgeons at once set about making preparations for the weather change which seemed imminent. Officers' call was sounded, the ward surgeons came to the hospital headquarters, and the telegram from General Miles was read to them. Instructions were also given that the guy ropes of the hospital tents should be tightened, and that the pegs should be driven in the ground more securely. If the cold wave and the storm arrive now, even though they come together, they will find the hospital pretty securely guarded against their onslaught.

The census of the general hospital went up with a jump again to-day. It was occasioned by the arrival of the hospital ship Missouri, which brought 249 sick men and convalescents from the First and Second Division hospitals, the division field hospital, the Nautical Club Hospital, the hospital ship Los Angeles, and the detention hospital for yellow fever cases and suspects at Santiago, and from the detention reserve hospital at Siboney. There were 262 sick on board when the Missouri left Santiago five and a half days ago, but thirteen of these Twelve of these were died on the voyage. buried at sea. Five of these were members of the 71st New-York Regiment, of whom there were thirty-eight on board at the time of sailing. There had been a marked improvement among the men on the voyage up frem Cuba, and this was shown by the fact that when the sick were taken on board at Santiago 135 had to be carried in litters, while to-day, in disembarking, litters had to be used for only sixty-

THE MISSOURI WELL FITTED UP. But the ship was admirably fitted for the duty she had to perform. There were six hospital wards on board and four diet kitchens, electrically heated, for the preparation of the food for the sick. Major Arthur suggested the diet kitchens, and they proved of incalculable value. The vessel was also as clean and neat inside and out as she could well be, and the sick throughout the entire trip were as comfortable as it is possible

The Missouri put in at the railroad wharf at The Missouri put in at the railroad wharf at 9:30 o'clock, and the gangplank had no sooner been lowered than Joseph Nilson, one of the hospital nurses, dashed down it and began to look for an ambulance. One was pointed out to him, and he leaped upon the seat, took the lines and whip and was going to drive off, saying he was the head of affairs here. Several soldiers rushed up and restrained him, and he was taken back to the ship. Worn out by fatigue and the constant nursing his mind had given away.

ROUGH RIDERS TO MUSTER OUT TUESDAY. The Rough Riders expect to be mustered out on Tuesday, although they will draw pay up to the 15th of the month. They turned in all their PHILLIPS, Martin, Company K, 6th Massachusetts. saddles, bridles and equipment to the ordnance officer to-day, even to their horse blankets, and some of them were wondering if they would be able to keep warm to-night, with only an army blanket to sleep in. That they are soon to get out of the service makes giad the heart of every one of them, and they are looking eagerly forward to the day when they will be plain, or-dinary citizens, "which is the highest position any man can occupy in life if he only knew it," any man can occupy in life if he only knew it," as one of them remarked.

The sick, who will have to be left behind when the regiment is mustered out, will be looked after by W. Bayard Cutting, of Isilp, and by Mrs. Armitage, of Southampton, toth of whom have said they will give quarters to some of the sick Roush Riders, and look after them until they are fully recovered.

August Beimont has sent $1,000 to the Rough Riders, but as Colonel Roosevelt thought they had more delicacles and invaries than they could dispose of in the short time they were to remain in the service the fund should be regarded as a memorial of William Tiffany. The best disposition that could be made of it, he thought, was to divide it among the widows and families of those who died here or in Cuba and the families of the wounded and sick, who for the state of the second of the second of the small sick, who for the second of the second of the small sick, who for the second of the se which she said:

My pian will be shaped by the wishes of President McKinley, when I can learn them. I left Cuba not so much on account of customs duties as to remove a possible obstruction to delicate Governmental regulations immediately pending. I think time should be given to the Commission to meet and act without a shadow of complication from outside parties, hence I did not myself adopt the plan of Mr. Cobb tto pay duties on Red Cross supplies), but withdrew. I am ready to conform to may plan of relief you suggest as soon as we can know we shall not be out of place in doing it. Quarantine ends to-day; hope to be home Sunday.

A telegram was received yesterday at Red Cross headquarters in this city from Miss Clara Barton, saying that she had been delayed twenty-four hours in getting away from Tampa, but expected to start at 8 o'clock to-night. BY THE CENTRAL The transportation bureau of the Quartermaster's department in the Army Building yesterday opened bids for the transportation of the 20th Infantry to break camp and proceed to Camp Meade, Middle-town, Pean, to-day. The failure to move was due to the inability of the New-York Quartermaster to provide transportation, and of the Commissary to furnish the necessary rations. The latter arrived Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the 3d Infantry Fort Snelling, Minnesota. The troops are to go on Tuesday. Both regiments go on the same day, as both combined number much less than a full regi to-night, but the bids for transportation were not opened until late this afternoon, so the command was forced to remain in camp. WAITING ORDERS AND FURLOUGHS. Washington, Sept. 10.-General order No. 139, pub-Washington, Sept. 10.-The First Assistant lished by the War Department to-day, directs that all commissioned officers belonging to regiments furloughed for sixty days be placed on waiting ceived the following cable dispatch from the furloughed for sixty days be placed on waiting orders, instead of being furloughed like their troops. This will facilitate the making of any changes in the orders to regiments, will give the officers better pay, and aford the Department a closer hold on them in case of need.

Another paragraph of the order places on the commanding officers at hospitals the responsibility for deciding whether or not soldiers sent home on sick furlough shall have sleeping-car accommodations, and requires the quartermaster, who is to be stationed at every general hospital, to honor any such requisitions. postal agent at Ponce, Porto Rico, giving details of the operations of the officials of the De-

There were large crowds in the gallerles and on the sides of the armory's drillroom, while the regiment paraded. Over eight hundred men took part in the rolicall and drill. It was held for the purpose of grunting furioughs. Colonel Chauncey was not at the armory, and Lieutenant-Colonel Jarvis was in command. A number of men will be detailed to-day for various duties about the armory and elsewhere.

The fact that fifteen Regulars who were discharged from hospitals in this city yesterday re-fused to take furloughs and asked to be at once fused to take furloughs and asked to be at once sent to their regiments greatly pleased the officers at the Army Building. Each one was entitled to a furlough of from thirty to sixty days, but instead of asking for it the men presented requests at the Army Building to be sent back to their regiments at Montauk Point. They had come here on various transports from Santiago, and under the ruling that convalescents were to have furloughs they could have obtained transportation to their homes. This was explained to them, and they said they preferred to join their regiments.
